VISA REQUIREMENTS

In most cases, Brazil adopts a policy of reciprocity regarding visas. This means that nationals of countries that require visas for Brazilian citizens will need a visa to travel to Brazil. According to Brazilian law, Brazil needs to sign an agreement, on a reciprocal basis, to offer visa waivers to nationals of other countries.

According to the Website of the Brazilian Ministry of Foreign Affairs:

“The visit visa will be issued to foreigners traveling to Brazil for staying up to 90 days without purposes of immigration or the exercise of paid activity (daily allowances, artistic paychecks, compensation, or other travel expenses are allowed). Visit visas can be granted for those traveling for tourism, business, transit, artistic or sports activities, study, volunteer work, or to attend conferences, seminars, or meetings, among other purposes - provided there is no remuneration in Brazil and the stay does not exceed 90 days”.

COVID-19 REQUIREMENTS TO TRAVEL TO BRAZIL

Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, Brazil has adopted specific rules for entering the country. According to the Interministerial Ordinance 678/22, published on 12 September 2022:

“General rules for entering the country

Brazilians and foreigners must provide:

A proof of complete vaccination against Covid-19

or

An antigen test or RT-PCR test, with a negative or non-detectable result for Covid-19, carried out one day before departure.

The proof of vaccination or the test result must be presented before boarding to the airline or company in charge of the transport services.

When arriving by land, travelers must present those documents to the authorities at land control points or to the company responsible for international road and rail passenger transport services.

Information about the Proof of Vaccination:

- the document must be either printed or electronic (proofs exclusively in QR-CODE will not be accepted).
- The proof must contain the name of the traveler, the commercial name or name of the vaccine manufacturer, the batch number(s) of the applied dose(s) and the date(s) of application of the dose(s).
- the vaccines accepted are those approved by Anvisa, the World Health Organization (WHO) or the authority of the country where the traveler has been immunized.
- the single dose or the last dose of the primary vaccination schedule must have occurred at least 14 days before the date of departure.

* Documents issued abroad may be presented in Portuguese, Spanish or English”.

Please check the full ordinance with the rules for air transportation, land transportation and borders, waterborne transportation, and rules for children here:

<https://www.gov.br/mre/pt-br/embaixada-talin/english/covid-19-entry-into-brazil>

NOTE: Airlines may adopt additional protocols regarding vaccination proof and COVID-19 tests. Please check your airline protocols in advance.

FAMUN 2023 PROTOCOLS AGAINST COVID-19

Note: in-person format of FAMUN 2023 will only take place if national, state, and municipal sanitary conditions are adequate for the event.

If such conditions are not adequate, FAMUN 2023 is entitled to transfer the simulations to the online format.

Participants will be notified of a possible change in conference format up to 15 days prior to FAMUN 2023.

If the delegation no longer wishes to participate, registration fees will not be refunded under any circumstances.

OTHER IMMUNIZATION REQUIREMENTS TO TRAVEL TO BRAZIL

Anvisa (National Health Surveillance Agency) and the World Health Organization (WHO) recommend that foreigners visiting Brazil be immunized against Yellow Fever and Malaria. It is recommended to issue the International Certificate of Immunization to guarantee entry into the country.

Visit <http://www.who.int/countries/bra/en/> to learn about immunization requirements and recommendations for travel to Brazil.

Other health orientations

Visit Your Doctor

Before coming to Brazil, make sure to check with your doctor and dentist that you are in your best shape.

Special Needs and Allergies

If you have special needs or are allergic, make sure to bring with you sufficient supply to Brazil. Bring enough medicines for the time you will spend here and be sure to bring the prescription for the medicines that you will need as well. If you need to take a medication regularly, bring a letter from your doctor that has detailed your treatment.

Regular Medicines

If you choose to bring medicines of common use, always have medicines for headaches, fever, coughs, etc.

Health Insurance

The Brazilian health system is divided in two services: (1) A universal free service called SUS, available to all citizens and foreigners in Brazil and; (2) Private hospitals and doctors that are paid. As the SUS system is mainly focused on lower-income people, thus very crowded, all international students must travel with a health insurance plan that covers expenses in private hospitals and allows repatriation for the entire stay in Brazil.

Note: find more information about hospitals and medical centers in the section “General information about Campinas and Barão Geraldo”.

TRANSPORTATION

How to get to Campinas - choosing your airport

Two main airports serve the region of Campinas: São Paulo International Airport (Guarulhos) and Viracopos International Airport (Campinas).

Airlines that serve the São Paulo International Airport (Guarulhos):

<http://www.aeroporto guarulhos.net/en/guarulhos-airlines>

Airlines that serve the Viracopos International Airport (Campinas):

https://www.viracopos.com/en_us/passager/interna-menu-2C9E81FE6EDB198E016EDB93A9BB3ECB.htm

How to get to Campinas (Barão Geraldo) from São Paulo International Airport (Guarulhos)

When you arrive at São Paulo International Airport (Guarulhos-GRU) search for an information desk and ask them about the LIRA BUS Company, which is located in Terminal 2, Platform 10 (take off from the main entrance and turn left). This company makes direct transfers from Guarulhos airport to the Campinas bus station (“Rodoviária Campinas” in Portuguese).

Upon arriving at LIRA BUS ask for a ticket to the bus station of Campinas. The ticket costs Brazilian R$ 36,60 (around €10 and US$ 10) for a two-hour journey.

The bus schedules are listed in the line “Cumbica for Campinas” in the link:

<https://www.lirabus.com.br/servicos/translados/#tab-id-1>

Note that Airport taxis to Campinas are very expensive, so the bus is the best option. From Guarulhos International Airport to Campinas: around R$ 330-430. Estimates using: <http://www.tarifadetaxi.com/campinas>

Once you get to Campinas, you need to take a taxi or an Uber to get to Barão Geraldo.

See the distance from Guarulhos Airport to Barão Geraldo here:

<https://goo.gl/maps/HfCv9Jk3jNJ2>

How to get to Campinas (Barão Geraldo) from Viracopos International Airport (Campinas)

At Viracopos International Airport, the Aerocoop cooperative provides taxi services to airport passengers. The taxi stand is located outside the Passenger Terminal. There is a counter service inside the Passenger Terminal for Mastercard, Visa, and Amex payments. For payment in cash, speak directly to the driver. Ask the driver to take you to UNICAMP, then give him your hotel address.

Transportation in Campinas and Barão Geraldo

Campinas is a city that was not planned for public transportation. It has one of the highest cars-to-inhabitant ratios in the country.

Bus

Barão Geraldo has a vast number of bus lines, pricing around US$ 1 per trip. Allow for extra time if you take buses because there can be delays in their schedule. You may not find bus transportation to all areas, and very few at night. Be especially careful with your safety at night.

If you are using public transportation, the app CittaMobi can help you find the approximate bus schedules and stops around Campinas.

Taxis

Taxis are expensive, but safe. You can call a taxi by phoning it: + 55 19 3288 0125 or + 55 19 3289 3300.

Uber

Uber is a transportation app that is very common in Campinas. Use it by downloading the App.

“Circular interno”

“Circular interno” is a free transport service with the purpose of facilitating the movement of the university community within the perimeter of the UNICAMP campus. For route information, go to:

<https://www.prefeitura.unicamp.br/servicos/unitransp/circular-interno/circular-em-tempo-real/>

MONEY

In Brazil, it became very common to pay all kinds of bills using a credit or debit card, even for small amounts.

You should not have any problem using your international card, either credit or debit, especially if it comes with a chip. Visa and MasterCard are the most famous flags.

If you want to pay with cash, our official currency is Real.

We recommend that you convert foreign currency to R$ and carry them with you for the program.

Carry the required details and have the hotline number handy for any cancellations or blockages in case you lose the card.

Please ensure that the associated telephone number registered with the bank is active through the travel period.

If you need to change your money in Campinas, you can find an exchange bureau in Dom Pedro Shopping Mall.

You can check rates on their website: <https://www.confidencecambio.com.br/>

ELECTRONIC DEVICES

Plugs & Chargers

In Brazil, the electrical sockets are like the ones below (type C or N), and the voltage is usually 100 – 127 V (like in CAMPINAS), although in some places it is 220 V (especially in small cities). So, make sure your devices are dual voltage or try to get an adapter. We suggest you bring a Universal Adapter, so you will not have problems with any socket.

SIM Card for Mobile Phone

There are four cell phone operators in Brazil: Vivo, Claro, Tim, and Oi. They offer SIM cards (locally called CHIPS) that give access to call and data network services. There are prepaid and postpaid plans. You can buy a SIM card at the official operators' stores.

WI-FI is available in many establishments, so just ask for the “senha” (Portuguese for password).

Personal Computer or Laptop or Pads

Since most activities of the simulation require accessing online documents, it is recommended that you bring your personal computer, laptop, or pad. Please bring an extension cord since many delegates may use the plugs at the same time.

GENERAL INFORMATION ABOUT CAMPINAS AND BARÃO GERALDO

The city of Campinas, São Paulo

FACAMP is located in Campinas, a countryside city in the state of São Paulo, Brazil. Campinas is one of the richest cities in Brazil, with 1.7 million habitants and a GDP per capita of U$21,000 (almost 2 times the Brazilian average). It is a one-hour (90 km) ride from São Paulo, Brazil's major city and its economic center. Usually referred to as the Brazilian Silicon Valley, the city is known for its vocation for technological innovation and has many renowned universities, technology research centers, and highly valued global enterprises, such as 3M, Bosch, Honda, Motorola, Pirelli, Samsung, among others.

Campinas was founded in 1774 as an outpost for the “Bandeirantes”, the original explorers who had frequent journeys inland in search of precious stones and Indian slaves. However, it became an important regional center in the 19th century, as agriculture needed more fertile soils, first for sugar cane and cotton, then for coffee. The coffee fever brought along with it the establishment of a very capillary railway network leading to the port of Santos for export, passing through the then secondary city of São Paulo. Campinas quickly became the most important economic center of the province of São Paulo, and should have been its capital were it not for the yellow fever epidemics that decimated more than a quarter of its population. Anyway, the coffee golden years allowed the accumulation of capital necessary for the city's industrialization in the 20th century. Such important agricultural center allowed the establishment of the first large scale research center of newer rural technologies, the Instituto Agrônômico (Agronomic Institute).

Since the end of World War II, Campinas has become an important industrial hub attracting several European and American companies like Bosch and 3M. In the 1960s, the establishment of the second public university in the State of São Paulo (UNICAMP) consolidated the city as a national technological hub. Campinas now concentrates technological centers, which makes it one of the leading research centers in the country.

FACAMP is in the district of Barão Geraldo (or simply Barão), which is around 15 Km from the Campinas downtown area. Barão looks like a small city within a large city, and it is full of students. The district life is focused around the UNICAMP (University of Campinas) campus, where FACAMP is located, so there are lots of academic and cultural activities.

Barão Geraldo

FACAMP is in the district of Barão Geraldo (or simply Barão), which is around 15 Km from the Campinas downtown area. The district life is focused around the UNICAMP (University of Campinas) campus, where FACAMP is located, so there are lots of academic and cultural activities. It has plenty of bars and restaurants and, as UNICAMP offers one of the best arts courses in the country, you will find lots of musicians, actors, and visual artists around.
